- A. Justice through Servant Leadership in Higher Education – Anselmo Amaral
 The principal cause of injustice is the assertion of self in leadership and the dominance of one over another in power. Servant Leadership introduces a different paradigm of understanding the role and identity of the leader to open doors for lifting people and creating a culture of just empowerment.
- B. Integrated Learning in Higher Education – Heliel Carvalho
 As global forces introduce the need for integration of disciplines and systems, higher education must engage in probing its unique contribution to forming a culture that thinks and behaves in integrated ways. Truth and discovery are inherently integrated in nature. Higher education that innovates around integration will provide holistic hope to solving cultures most challenging questions and shaping new generations in the foundation of God’s justice.
